

Heather L. Craden-Wilson

ADVISORY SERVICES

Heather is a Senior Manager with Marcum LLP and has over twenty years of public accounting and consulting experience. Heather provides forensic accounting and litigation support services in both civil and criminal litigation matters. Civil litigation services Heather has provided include fraud investigations, employee dishonesty investigations, business loss claims, partnership/shareholder disputes, financial investigations to pierce the corporate veil, professional liability, and lost earnings capacity analyses. Criminal services include assistance to both prosecution and defense. Financial analyses has been provided in the prosecution of "kiting" schemes and in defense of alleged income tax fraud, money laundering and other financial frauds.

In the past, Heather has provided litigation support services, consulting, audit, and tax to both solvent and insolvent companies in a number of industries. She has written articles for national publications. Heather has assisted with deposition testimony and has testified in Bankruptcy Court in matters of liquidation and in Federal Court regarding racketeering and money laundering. Heather provides support in venues such as arbitration, mediation, settlement, and litigation within the U.S. Market.
