New York-based IPA 100 firm Marcum (FY22 net revenue of 1.3 billion) announces the integration of Rockville, Md.-based Simon Krowitz Meadows & Bortnick (SKMB) into its network, effective May 1.

Jeffrey Weiner, chairman and CEO of Marcum, commented on the partnership, "This collaboration aligns seamlessly with our strategy to expand alongside firms that share our ethos and unwavering commitment to client satisfaction. It fortifies our capabilities, solidifies our position as a leader in the Mid-Atlantic region, and delivers exceptional value to our clients and employees."

Edward Bortnick, SKMB's co-MP, echoed Weiner's sentiments. "We have always prioritized professional excellence and client service, values that resonate deeply with Marcum's philosophy. While we anticipate the enhanced capabilities we will offer our clients, we are equally thrilled about the opportunities it presents for our employees."

Henry Meadows, co-MP with SKMB, added, "By affiliating with a firm renowned for its extensive training programs, career advancement pathways, and culture of innovation and leadership, our team stands to gain immensely."

Jeffrey Zudeck, Marcum's Mid-Atlantic Regional MP, commented, "This union sets the stage for shared growth and sustained success as we introduce Marcum's comprehensive solutions to our extended client base in Maryland."

The firm announced that the integration promises seamless continuity of service for SKMB's clients, coupled with the added advantage of expanded capabilities in critical practice areas such as cyber and information security and executive search.
